GENERAL COUNSEL'S REPORT #4

I. ACTIONS RECOMMENDED

Accept the attached Conciliation Agreement with Charles Kushner and 40 Associated Partnerships; take no further action as to the Kushner Companies, Scott Zecher and 15 individual partner respondents.¹

II. BACKGROUND

This matter primarily concerns over $500,000 in aggregate political contributions that partnership entities directed and controlled by New Jersey businessman Charles Kushner ("40 Associated Partnerships") made to numerous federal political committees, including Bill Bradley for President, Inc. ("the Bradley Committee"), for the 1999-2000 election cycle. The entire amount of each partnership contribution was improperly attributed to the personal contribution limit of a single individual partner in the contributing partnership without the

2 Counsel's Report #2. Instead, Charles Kushner, as managing partner of each partnership, 3 determined the individual partners to whom specific contributions were attributed and the 4 amounts and recipient committees of the contributions.

5 This Office recommends that the Commission accept a global pre-probable cause
6 conciliation agreement from Charles Kushner and the 40 Associated Partnerships

² If the Associated Partnerships had attributed the contributions to all of the natural person partners pursuant to an equity-based agreement under 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2), the aggregate amount of the contributions to specific federal political committees would have been constrained by the Section 441a contribution limit of Charles Kushner, who held a substantial equity interest in each of the Associated Partnerships.

1 A. Attribution of Partnership Contributions

2 A partnership is a "person" under the Act and, subject to other limitations and 3 prohibitions, may make federal political contributions. 2 U.S.C. §§ 431(11) and 441a(a)(1). In 4 order to prevent partnerships controlled by the same persons from being used to evade
5 contribution limitations and prohibitions, the Act's implementing regulations treat partnership 6 contributions as counting towards the contribution limits of both the partnership and the specific 7 partners to whom the contribution, or portions thereof, are attributed under 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e).
8 This dual attribution can be accomplished in one of two ways:

- 9 • Under 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(1), a partnership contribution can be dually
10 attributed in pro rata fashion to each partner in direct proportion to his or 11 her share of the partnership profits, according to instructions which shall 12 be provided by the partnership to the political committee or candidate.
13 This option, however, is not available to any partnership that includes a 14 partner that is prohibited from making contributions under the Act, such as 15 an incorporated entity.
16
17 • Under 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2), a partnership contribution also can be 18 dually attributed in a non pro rata fashion by agreement of the partners, as 19 long as 20 (i) Only the profits of the partners to whom the contributions is attributed 21 are reduced (or losses increased), and 22 (ii) These partners' profits are reduced (or losses increased) in proportion 23 to the contribution attributed to each of them.
24

25 B. Procedural History

26 During the post-2000 election cycle audit of the Bradley Committee, see 26 U.S.C. § 27 9038(a), the Commission became aware of $40,000 in contributions from the 40 Associated 28 Partnerships made via checks signed by Charles Kushner, for which 100% of each $500 or 29 $1,000 partnership contribution was attributed to a specific individual represented to be a partner
30 in the contributing partnership. Information obtained during the audit, and confirmed by the later 31 investigation, suggested that the individuals to whom the contributions had been attributed, some

1 of whom were not partners, had not made a contemporaneous agreement to a 100% attribution of 2 the contribution as required by 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2). See GCR #2 at 9. Disclosure Reports
3 and press accounts seemed to indicate that the contributions to the Bradley Committee were part 4 of a much broader pattern of federal political contributions by the Associated Partnerships.

5 On June 26, 2002, the Commission made reason-to-believe findings on several 6 alternative legal theories, including:

- 7 • The 40 Associated Partnerships, Kushner Companies, Charles Kushner, and 8 Scott Zecher violated 2 U.S.C. § 441f by making the contributions in the 9 names of the partners without their knowledge and by apparently reimbursing 10 them for their contributions.
- 11 • Kushner Companies, and its corporate officers, including Charles Kushner 12 and Scott Zecher, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441b by facilitating the making of 13 contributions by providing the use of corporate facilities and by acting as a 14 conduit for the contributions.
- 15 • Charles Kushner violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(1) by making excessive 16 contributions as a conduit for the partnerships and 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(3) by 17 personally exceeding his annual contribution limitation.
- 18 • Bill Bradley for President, Inc. violated 2 U.S.C. § 441f by accepting
19 contributions made in the name of another and 2 U.S.C. § 441b by accepting 20 corporate contributions.
- 21 • Bill Bradley for President, Inc. violated 2 U.S.C. § 441f by accepting
22 contributions made in the name of another and 2 U.S.C. § 441b by accepting
23 corporate contributions.

24 The investigation focused on contributions made by the 40 Associated Partnerships or 25 attributed to individual partners involved with the contributions made to the Bradley Committee, 26 which had resulted in the audit referral. These entities and persons were included with 27 partnership contributions totaling $540,900, of which $32,000 were attributed to Charles 28 Kushner, and $508,900 were attributed to other partners. See Attachment 1. During the 29 investigation, this Office obtained extensive records from the Associated Partnerships and 30 contacted many of the individuals to whom partnership contributions had been attributed.
31

1 Throughout the investigation, indeed even in conciliation discussions, the Kushner
2 Respondents maintained that the written agreements under which the partnerships operated 3 vested broad authority in Charles Kushner to conduct the business of the partnerships, which 4 included making political contributions with 100% attributions to specific partners.⁵ See
5 Kushner Consolidated Joint Response appended to GCR #2. While almost all of the partners
6 were unaware of the partnership contributions, it did appear that the Associated Partnerships had 7 made debits to the capital accounts of individual partners to reflect the reduction in profits
8 corresponding to the amount of the attributed contribution. 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2). However,
9 the accounting information also appeared to suggest that each partner to whom contributions 10 were attributed also received an unexplained additional distribution from the partnership that was 11 equal to the amount of the debit to his or her capital account, which may have represented a 12 reimbursement for the contribution. See GCR #2 at 17.

13 On November 18, 2003, the Commission authorized this Office to enter into pre-probable 14 cause conciliation with Charles Kushner, the Kushner Companies, the 40 Associated 15 Partnerships, Scott Zecher and 15 of the individual partners, as well as with the Bradley
16 Committee.⁶

⁶ These 15 individual partners include: Jeffrey Freireich, Melvin Gebroe, Morris Hammer, Dara Kushner, Jared Kushner, Joshua Kushner, Nicole Kushner, Rae Kushner, Linda Laulicht, Pamela Laulicht, Mel Scheinerman, Steven Silverman, John Sims, Richard Stadtmuer, and Alex Tarapchak. At the same time, the Commission decided to take no further action with respect to 24 other partners because they had filed statements with the Commission establishing that they had no knowledge of the contributions attributed to them, or because they were not, in fact, partners at the time the contributions were made.

3
4
5
6
7
8 Subsequently, this Office conducted significant additional investigation, which included 9 interviews with an important additional fact witness, procurement of affidavits from various 10 individual partners who had not cooperated with earlier inquiries into their knowledge of the 11 attributions, review of substantial additional information as to Associated Partnership 12 accounting, and an independent consultation with an Internal Revenue Service specialist in 13 partnership accounting practices.

14 Based on this new information, and for reasons discussed below, this Office recommends
15 that the Commission accept the attached global Conciliation Agreement with Charles Kushner

1 and 40 Associated Partnerships; take no further action and close the file as to all other Kushner
2 Companies, Scott Zecher and the individual partners in the Associated Partnerships.

12
13 A. Legal Theories

14 The legal theory set forth in the proposed agreement represents the most accurate and 15 straightforward manner in which to view the facts of this case. By failing to obtain the partners' 16 agreements to a non-pro rata attribution of the partnership contributions, as required under 17 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2), the Respondents violated not only that regulation, but also 2 U.S.C. § 18 441a, the statutory provision being implemented by the regulation. The failure to obtain the 19 required agreement for a non-pro rata attribution of the partnership contributions allowed the 20 Respondents to make more partnership contributions than otherwise would have been allowed by 21 the partners' Section 441a limits.
22
23

1
2
3 The Commission made Section 441a findings on the alternative theory that Charles
4 Kushner acted as a conduit who exercised direction and control over the Associated Partnership
5 contributions, and that the contributions also should be dually attributed to Mr. Kushner's
6 personal contribution limit. While Mr. Kushner certainly exercised direction and control over 7 the Associated Partnership contributions, his role may not fall within the definition of a conduit.
8 Mr. Kushner was either the managing partner or the authorized agent of an entity that acted as 9 the managing partner of each Associated Partnership. In order to be a conduit, Mr. Kushner 10 would have to be viewed as acting as a conduit (in his personal capacity) between himself (in his 11 partnership capacity) and the recipient committees. There is no precedent for attaching conduit 12 liability in a situation where the conduit simultaneously is the managing agent of the contributing 13 entity. Given the novelty of this theory, this Office believes that the theory contained in the 14 proposed conciliation agreement represents a better resolution.

15 The Commission made 441b findings based on the involvement of individuals who held 16 themselves out as officers of Kushner Companies and used Kushner Companies letterhead to 17 forward contribution checks. See GCR #2. Respondents have established that at all relevant
18 times, Kushner Companies had no corporate assets or funds of its own – and existed only as a 19 trade-name for the partnerships and limited liability companies through which the Kushner real 20 estate business is managed.⁸ Respondents have also maintained that although a Kushner-
21 affiliated LLC prepared and delivered the contribution checks, this was done in the LLC's

⁸ Kushner Companies also has no employees. However, through its website and promotional materials, it holds out to the public that Charles Kushner is the Chairman of Kushner Companies. Scott Zecher, who is no longer employed by any Kushner-related entity, was previously held out as the Chief Operating Officer.

1 ordinary course of business since its partnership-management responsibilities included writing
2 checks for the partnerships. In support of its position, the Respondents have cited MUR 2557
3 (Bayco), where the Commission took no action against a management entity for possible
4 facilitation of partnership contributions. The absence of corporate resources, while not negating
5 a violation, merits a focus on the more straightforward legal theory set forth in the proposed 6 conciliation agreement.

7 The Commission made 441f findings based on information suggesting that the individual 8 partners were reimbursed for the contributions dually attributed to their personal contribution
9 limits. As noted above, at the time the Commission found reason-to-believe, the accounting 10 entry information suggested that the partners to whom the contributions were attributed may 11 have received reimbursements in the form of supplemental distributions to their partnership 12 ledger balances, equal to the amount of the contributions attributed to them. The basis for these 13 accounting entries has been clarified by an extensive review of the partnerships' and partners' 14 tax records and expert opinions from Ernst & Young partnership accountants hired by the 15 Respondents and from an Internal Revenue Service partnership tax expert consulted by this 16 Office. The supplemental distributions were actually offsets to debits to the partners' capital
17 accounts, rather than reimbursements.⁹ Under accountancy and tax principles, these capital
18 account debits had an irreversible "economic effect" of reducing profits as required under 11
19 C.F.R. § 110.1(e)(2). When the partnership is dissolved or when the partner exits the 20 partnership, his or her final partnership distribution will be reduced in an amount equal to the 21

In particular, this Office would like to note the contributions of Assistant Staff Director Joe Stoltz.

¹⁰ As was pointed out in the Audit Division analysis attached to General Counsel's Report #2, contributing partners received both their annual net cash flow distribution from the partnership and a supplemental distribution for political contributions. The net cash flow distribution amounts corresponded to partners' ownership shares, but the distributions representing political contributions caused "contributing" partners to receive distributions in amounts disproportionate to their ownership share. Nevertheless, as was demonstrated through expert analysis, the entire amount of the distribution (both the net cash flow distribution and the supplemental distribution) was offset with a debit to the partners' capital account, reducing his or her "profits."

D. 15 Individual Partner Contributors

This Office recommends that the Commission take no further action against 15 individual partners to whom partnership contributions had been attributed and against whom the Commission made findings of reason to believe they violated 2 U.S.C. § 441f by knowingly permitting their names to be used for contributions in the name of another. These individual partners, who joined in the Kushner Respondents' legal arguments, had initially refused to cooperate with Commission inquiries by declining to submit sworn statements attesting to their knowledge or lack of knowledge regarding the contributions.¹⁸ As noted above, however, further investigation established there were no reimbursements, and thus no basis for finding that there had been contributions made in the name of another. Accordingly, this Office recommends that the Commission take no further action against Jeffrey Freireich, Melvin Greboe, Morris Hammer, Dara Kushner, Jared Kushner, Joshua Kushner, Nicole Kushner, Rae Kushner, Linda Laulicht, Pamela Laulicht, Mel Scheinerman, Steven Silverman, John Sims, Richard Stadtmayer, and Alex Tarapchak.

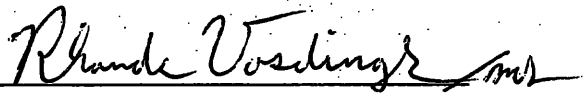

¹⁸ In February 2004, in response to Commission subpoenas for deposition testimony, these individuals provided affidavits describing their knowledge of the contributions. With one exception, the affidavits established that the individual partners did not know of the contributions at the time they were made.

VI. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Approve the attached conciliation agreement with Charles Kushner and 40 Associated Partnerships.
2. Take no further action against Kushner Companies, Scott Zecher, Jeffrey Freireich, Melvin Gebroe, Morris Hammer, Dara Kushner, Jared Kushner, Joshua Kushner, Nicole Kushner, Rae Kushner, Linda Laulicht, Pamela Laulicht, Mel Scheinerman, Steven Silverman, John Sims, Richard Stadtmauer, and Alex Tarapchak.
3. Approve the appropriate letters.
